Response to the Independent Living Services Advisory Council
2023 Annual Report

Introduction

Since its inception in 2002, the Independent Living Services Advisory Council (the Council) has been responsible for providing recommendations on the implementation and operation of Independent Living services as part of a comprehensive report to the Legislature. As mandated in s. 409.1451(7), Florida Statutes (F.S.), the Department of Children and Families (the Department) is submitting responses to the Council's recommendations as part of the Council's 2023 Annual Report, which covers the 2022-23 state fiscal year. As required by statute, the report also includes updates on youth and young adult outcomes within the Independent Living service array.

Department Responses to the Council's Recommendations

The Department extends sincere appreciation for the unwavering support and dedication of the Council and its members. With continued collaboration between the Department and the Council, Florida will continue to make substantial strides in improving the prospects and well-being of the youth and young adults in our care. The Council proposes the Department and stakeholder groups work toward the following recommendations:

1. INDEPENDENT LIVING SERVICES ADVISORY COUNCIL INFRASTRUCTURE AND GOVERNANCE REVISION

The 2022-2023 Council developed an Operating Policy and Procedure Manual to serve as a comprehensive guide for its future Council operations. The manual outlines the Council's procedures and tools and is designed to ensure that the Council's work and reporting are consistent, and that it delivers a reliable and uniform report to the Department and the Florida Legislature. The Department supports the implementation of the manual and applauds the Council's effort to increase efficiency and productivity by streamlining the onboarding process. This effort will allow the Council more time to focus on developing and implementing new initiatives.

This revision will reinforce the importance of following the established processes and procedures. However, the Department recognizes the importance of flexibility and openness to revision as new members bring new ideas and perspectives, and as the Council's work evolves. The manual should be updated periodically to reflect these changes, so that the Council can continue to function effectively. As an alternative to statutory changes, the Department will also work with the Council on approving the operating procedures and exploring policy or rule to enact this recommendation.

The Department believes the addition of the Council's Operating Policy & Procedure Manual is a valuable resource that will help the Council achieve its goals. By implementing, adhering to, and updating the Operating Policy and Procedure Manual, the Council can ensure more productive meetings and overall reporting.

2. GUARDIAN AD LITEM'S REVIEW OF INTERNAL POLICY AND PROCEDURES FOR POST AGE 18 YOUNG ADULTS

The Department acknowledges the significance of young adults in the Extended Foster Care program maintaining their relationship with a Guardian Ad Litem (GAL) even after age 18. The Department has shared the recommendation made by the Council for the GAL to review their ability to continue to support youth transitioning to adulthood. As highlighted by the Council, many young adults joining the EFC program do not have a GAL, or the assigned Guardian is discharged upon a youth's 18th birthday. Additionally, the Independent Living Case Manager or Transitioning Youth Specialist may not be informed about the prior appointment of a GAL when a young person enters an Independent Living program. Understanding the essential role played by the GAL in advocating for youth in the dependency system, the Department recognizes this as a positive step toward improving the transition process for youth and young adults and remains interested in receiving an update on this recommendation from the Council in future ILSAC reporting.

3. THE COUNCIL'S RECOMMENDATION FOR THE DEPARTMENT'S REVIEW OF SYSTEM OF CARE FOR YOUTH TRANSITIONING TO ADULTHOOD.

The Department recognizes the challenges in preparing young adults for adulthood and supports the Council's recommendation that the Department continue its work towards a more consistent service delivery, and better preparation for youth transitioning to independence. To better assist this population and enhance service delivery, the Department established the Office of Continuing Care (OCC) in October 2021. The OCC is dedicated to helping youth transition to Florida's post-18 Independent Living Programs. In 2022-2023, the OCC conducted regular on-site visits and training sessions for Lead Agencies and their providers, with a specific focus on Independent Living preparation and collaboratively working with case management to serve seamlessly from teen years to adulthood. In response to feedback from stakeholders and legislative priorities, the OCC transformed the "My Pathways to Success Plan" into a comprehensive tool for gathering essential details in preparation for adulthood. Additionally, through collaboration with the Department's Office of Quality and Innovation (Quality Office), quality assurance reviews are incorporating relevant Independent Living specific questions into the "Life of Case reviews". As a result, the Quality Office can now provide real-time feedback to ensure proper assessments, planning, judicial oversight, and pertinent document availability for youth during the transition on specific cases selected for monitoring.

The implementation of site visits, training, strengthening of transition planning, and quality assurance oversight has strengthened the connection between DCF and service providers. Consequently, significant improvements have been identified in Independent Living data measures. For example, increased completion rates for transition planning (up 115% in the previous FY) and higher administration rates for life skills assessments (up 90%) to identify necessary skills for adulthood.

The OCC has made great strides in aiding young people as they transition into adulthood. The emphasis on training, improving quality, and offering technical support to lead agencies is a positive step in the right direction. Nevertheless, the Department recognizes that there are still obstacles to overcome. It will persist in its efforts to create more uniform processes for youth entering EFC or RTI programs and ensure that all service providers are consistently held responsible, in line with the Council's advice. This will include the addition of an Independent Living curriculum that is presently in development. The curriculum will provide Lead Agency staff who work with youth and young adults an opportunity to receive a specialty track training designed to enhance the knowledge of independent living requirements, policies, and best practices which will further consistent service delivery statewide.

4. THE COUNCIL'S RECOMMENDATION FOR COLOR_CODED ACTION LIST

The Department supports the Council's recommendation to implement the color-coded action list and will retain for review by future Councils. The list has proven to be a valuable tool that provides the status and clear direction on past recommendations. The list also tracks topics that come up during the research and analysis period of Council meetings. The list has been used to consolidate all recommendations from 2018 to 2023. The Department agrees the list will help to ensure that the Council's recommendations are tracked and followed up on and that the Council has a clear understanding of the outcomes of its recommendations directly from the Department.

This concludes the Department's responses, and the Department would like to extend sincere appreciation for the unwavering support and hard work of the Council and its members. With continued collaboration Florida will continue to make substantial strides in improving the prospects and well-being of the youth and young adults in our care. In line with the commitment to continuous improvement through in-depth analysis, the next section of the report provides updates on the Independent Living Programs for the Fiscal Year 2022-23.

Independent Living Programs Overview: Data and Outcomes

Consistent with the Department's commitment to continuous improvement through in-depth analysis and intentional actions, this section of the report provides updates on the Independent Living Programs for fiscal year 2022-23:

Extended Foster Care (EFC)

Extended Foster Care is available to current and former foster youth who turned 18 years of age in the Department's legal custody or in licensed foster care and allows the opportunity to continue residing in or return to licensed foster care or a supervised living arrangement. Extended Foster Care provides continued case management services, court oversight, room and board, and other services needed to ensure success as an independent adult.

Eligibility Requirements for EFC include:

Completing secondary education or a program leading to an equivalent credential; or

Enrolled in post-secondary or vocational education; or

Employed for at least 80 hours/month; or

Participating in a program or activity that promotes or eliminates barriers to employment (i.e., job skills program); or

Unable to participate in one of the above full time due to a documented disability.

Young adults are eligible to remain in Extended Foster Care until their 21st birthday, or until the age of 22 years old if they are actively participating in EFC and have a documented disability.

Road to Independence Programs

Postsecondary Education Support Services (PESS)- s. 409.1451(2), Florida Statutes, (F.S.)

PESS is available to former foster youth who turned 18 years of age while in the legal custody of the Department and spent a total of at least six months in licensed out-of-home care before turning 18; or are 18 years of age and was adopted after the age of 16 from foster care or placed with a court-approved dependency guardian after spending at least 6 months in licensed care within the 12 months immediately preceding such placement or adoption.

PESS payment stipends are monthly in the amount of $1,720. Prior to receiving the PESS stipend, the Department assesses for financial literacy, executive functioning, self-regulation, and similar skills. PESS provides continued transitional and financial planning that includes assistance in meeting young adults current and future needs.

Additional eligibility requirements include that a young adult:
Have earned a standard high school diploma or equivalent.
Has been admitted for enrollment as a full-time student (9 credit hours) at an eligible Florida Bright Futures post-secondary educational institution.

PESS support is available for eligible young adults the age of 23 years old.

Aftercare Services (Aftercare)

The Aftercare program is established in section 409.1451(3), F.S. This temporary program is intended to provide a safety net for young adults who turn 18 years of age in the legal custody of the Department or in licensed foster care. Services are designed to help transition either to independence or to help become eligible for Extended Foster Care or PESS. Aftercare Services can include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Mentoring or tutoring
- Mental Health Services
- Substance abuse counseling
- Life skills classes
- Parenting classes
- Job and Career skills training
- Counselor consultations
- Temporary financial assistance
- Financial literacy skills training
- Emergency Financial Assistance

Aftercare services are available to eligible young adults until age 23. To be eligible for Aftercare, a young adult must complete the following:

1. Application for Aftercare and
2. Aftercare Services Plan, which is reassessed every 90 days.

Table 1 illustrates the number of young adults served in each Independent Living program by Lead Agency during the past two State Fiscal Years (SFYs). Florida has experienced a 22% increase in Extended Foster Care participation, and a 13% increase in the total number of young adults receiving services (Aftercare, EFC and PESS) compared to the previous SFY.

Education

For each Lead Agency, Table 2 displays the number of young adults who have achieved a High School Diploma, GED, or Special Diploma in the past two SFYs. The data indicate a significant increase (50%) in degree obtainment compared to the previous SFY.

Education (continued)

Chart 1 reflects the number of young adults enrolled in the PESS program who have successfully obtained a post-secondary or graduate degree in the past two SFYs. While there has been a decline in the number of young adults achieving degrees in SFY 2022-2023, it is important to acknowledge that young adults have relayed challenges due to the transition between online platforms and in-person classroom learning which could negatively impact degree obtainment.

As a result of increasing the monthly amount to $1,720, young adults have expressed more freedom to solely focus on pursuing a post-secondary education. Furthermore, the Department has made significant improvements to their My Pathways to Success Plan. These revisions now include transitional planning for PESS participants, which aims to identify and address any obstacles that may prevent them from obtaining a post-secondary degree and provides more personalized and targeted assistance for PESS participants.

Through these concerted efforts, driven by youth engagement and an attentive eye on emerging trends, The Department anticipates significant improvements in post-secondary degree obtainment in forthcoming reports.

Employment

Table 3 presents Lead Agency data on the count of young adults involved in the EFC Program who have been employed in the past two SFYs. It is important to note that obtaining employment is not the sole requirement for eligibility in this program.

Recent data suggests that more program participants are choosing to pursue secondary education as the activity that qualifies them for the program as represented in the increase in secondary degree obtainment. Consequently, there has been a slight decline in the number of young adults in the program who have reported employment compared to the previous SFY.

Table 4 provides the number of young adults who received Aftercare for the previous two SFY's and had a recorded period of employment. The number of young adults who have recorded employment in Aftercare has increased 62% from the previous SFY.

Although young adults are not required to seek employment or attend school as an ongoing condition for eligibility in Aftercare, they must make efforts to complete activities to become self-sufficient. These types of activities, as part of the recently updated Aftercare Services Plan, will assist with transitioning the young adult toward financial self-sufficiency.

Housing

Ensuring that young adults have a safe and stable home is crucial for them to become self-sufficient. By meeting their housing needs, they can focus on achieving their short- and long-term goals. In the case of young adults in the EFC program they work with their Independent Living Team to identify a safe and appropriate place to live and enter into a Supervised Living Arrangement. Prior to placement, child welfare professionals use a standardized form to assess the suitability of the living environment. This Supervised Living Arrangement Assessment for EFC ensures that young adults are placed in the most appropriate housing option for their unique needs. These options include Transitional Living Programs, Shared Renting Housing, residential treatment facilities, their own housing, military housing, living with a single guardian, living with a married couple, individual renting housing, dormitories, and assisted living facilities.

If young adults are terminated from the EFC program, Aftercare Services can provide them with a way back into the program and prevent homelessness in the gap. Any young adult who qualifies for Aftercare who becomes homeless can request services and action is taken to solve their housing situation within 24 hours. This rapid response is imperative in ensuring the temporary crisis does not continue.

Chart 2 displays the living arrangements young adults enrolled in EFC for the SFY 2022-2023. It indicates that the largest portion of young adults in EFC (52%) utilize individual housing, 21% choose to share rental housing, and 16% are residing in a transitional living program.

Financial

During SFY 2022-2023, the Department's Office of Lead Agency and Managing Entity Financial Accountability provided technical assistance and oversight to DCF's Lead Agency contract managers and staff throughout the state to ensure payments were recorded accurately in FSFN. Independent Living service payments were reviewed monthly to determine the following:

- Payment amounts adhere to the amounts prescribed in Florida Statutes and Florida Administrative Code.
- Young adults' eligibility within each program is appropriately documented in FSFN.
- Federal and state funds are paid only to eligible young adults based on age qualifications for the program in which the young adults have been approved.

Table 5. FY 2022-2023 Independent Living Service Payments

SFY22-23	GAA
Independent Living (Recurring Base)	$ 38,195,652
SB 80/96 Requirements - Rec GR	$ 1,683,938
ISSUE 4000817 IL Case Coordination / Pre-IL Life Skills & Normalcy - Rec GR	$ 5,710,752
ISSUE 4000817 Increase in PESS Monthly Payment - Rec GR	$ 8,352,000
SFY 22-23 Appropriation	$ 53,942,342

During FY 2022-2023, the legislature appropriated nearly $54 million for Independent Living services. The total appropriation includes the cost of case management associated with the delivery of services to young adults and the supplemental room and board payment to foster care parents for providing independent life skills and normalcy supports to youth ages 13 through 17. If a Lead Agency exceeds its Independent Living allocation, the excess comes out of its core funding.

At the beginning of the FY, each Lead Agency was evaluated for its financial accountability of funds provided by the Department including actual expenditures recorded for the prior FY, carry forward funds available, and the agency's submitted Cost Allocation Plan. The Cost Allocation Plan is developed by the Lead Agency and outlines how the Lead Agency will spend funds for each program during the year. The plan is reviewed and approved by the Department. As needed, any identified fiscal issues are discussed with the Lead Agency.

In addition to technical assistance provided and monthly payment reviews, quarterly reviews were also conducted. When payment records are selected, each Lead Agency is required to provide supporting documentation for the eligibility criteria entered in FSFN. The supporting documentation is reviewed to confirm that the amount of financial assistance determined by the Lead Agency aligns with the eligibility and financial requirements that were completed.

Transportation: Keys to Independence Program

In 2014, the Florida Keys to Independence Act was enacted into law. This program is specifically designed for youth and young adults ages 15 through 21 who are in out-of-home care, participating in Extended Foster Care, or the recent expansion to include young adults involved in the Post-Secondary Education and Support Services Program. The program seeks to aid its target population in obtaining a driver's license and car insurance.

As of June 2023:

- 2,474 youth and young adults in the state of Florida have obtained a learner's permit.
- 1,314 have obtained a Florida driver's license.
- 9,733 youth and young adults have been enrolled in the Keys to Independence program statewide and 3,709 remained actively enrolled in the program as of the same date.
- Since the expansion to include eligible PESS clients in April 2022, there have been approximately 170 young adults in Florida enrolled in PESS who are currently receiving services through the Keys to Independence Program.

In addition to providing support through the Keys to Independence program, young adults can also discuss obtaining or accessing reliable transportation and other resources like bus schedules, public transportation or ride sharing through transition staffing with the Department's My Pathway to Success Plan. Through the combined efforts of the Keys to Independence program and the standardized My Pathways to Success Plan, the Department has observed a rise in young adults' ability to acquire driver's licenses without incurring any expenses, thanks to the additional support, resources, and incentives that motivate them to actively participate.

Health and Well-Being

Young adults in the EFC program can receive Child in Care Medicaid until they turn 21. If an 18-year-old was already receiving Medicaid while under the custody of the Department, they will automatically qualify for the Sunshine Health Child Welfare Specialty Medicaid Plan until they turn 26. The Department and Sunshine Health continue their collaboration to expand programs and benefits to improve health outcomes which include CARE grants that provide up to $150 per child per year for activities promoting healthy development. Additionally, plan members receive free transportation to medical appointments.

To make sure that youth and young adults in our post-18 programs receive necessary services, the Department has introduced a new reporting system called the "Young Adult Receiving Services Report" (YARS). This report allows caseworkers to identify any early issues or problems and plan interventions accordingly.

Connections

The Department understands the value of strong bonds between caring adults and young adults in Independent Living Programs. These relationships are vital in helping young adults reach their goals and overcome obstacles. Feedback from site visits and training has emphasized the long-lasting impact of these connections. With the guidance of the OCC, the Department continues to actively promote the use of peer connections. Local Lead Agencies and their providers have increased the hiring of young adults with personal experience to form relationships with their peers, guiding them through the transition to adulthood.

Moreover, the Department offers resources to lead agencies to promote the development of supportive relationships. The enhanced My Pathway to Success Plan, along with statewide training initiatives, have placed a strong emphasis on the importance of adult support networks and mentors. To aid both staff and young adults in locating mentors and forging positive connections, facilitator guides were created and contain a specific section dedicated to the identification and cultivation of supportive adults. In cases where no supportive adults are identified, a documented plan must be formulated to outline the steps for finding a mentor or establishing a lasting positive connection that will extend into adulthood.

Recent expansion of the Hope Florida program also serves as a resource to identify caring and committed adults for Florida's youth. Hope Florida – A Pathway to Promise that will assist youth transitioning from foster care to adulthood by providing a long-term mentor and offering a strong start to their future. Utilizing both Guardian ad Litem volunteers and Department of Elder Affairs' Hope Heroes, youth aging out of foster care are paired with a trained mentor, who will provide guidance, motivation, emotional support, and help to develop skills and resources for their future.

Through the new YARS report discussed on Pg. 13, implementation data outcomes on permanent connections will be available. This report captures information about these connections, enabling effective data collection and evaluation for future reporting. In doing so, the Department aims to better equip young adults with lifelong connections as they transition into adulthood.
